

Construction to begin on parking garage at The Waterfront Vancouver

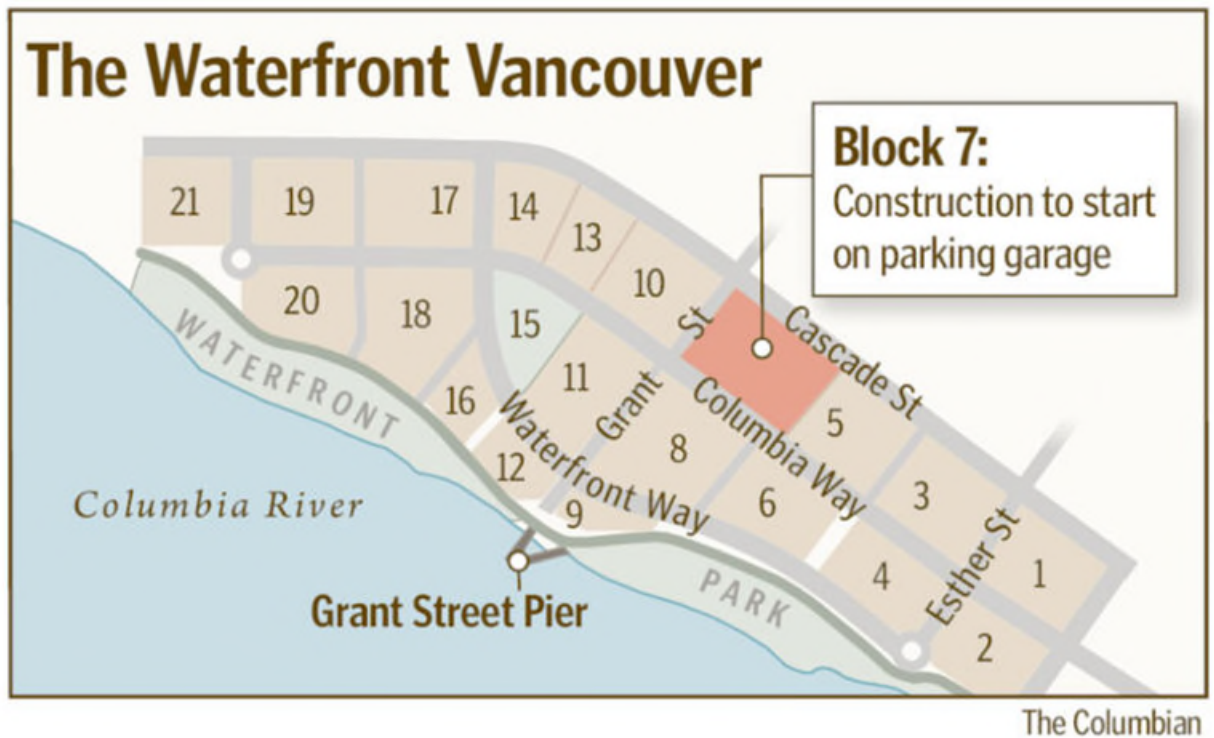

Structure will provide 829 spaces, ground-floor retail

By Will Campbell, Columbian Innovation Editor

Published: February 8, 2023, 4:39pm

An artist's rendering shows an eight-story, 829-space parking garage planned at The Waterfront Vancouver development. The garage will also include 10,500 square feet of retail space and 83 parking spaces allocated for electric vehicle charging stations. (Photo contributed by Gramor Development)

A new parking garage at The Waterfront Vancouver is set to begin construction as soon as next week.

The lot, on Block 7, was surface parking, but it closed at the end of last month to allow the construction of the garage.

The eight-story parking tower will hold 829 spaces. It will also have three elevators and 83 electric vehicle charging spaces. The building will boast 10,500 square feet of ground-floor retail space to bring in more shops, restaurants or whatever else tenants want to see at The Waterfront Vancouver. Visitors to the garage will have to pay for parking.

Gramor Development is the developer for the parking garage, which was always part of the plan for The Waterfront Vancouver, according to President Barry Cain.

